Diamond Spectacles.

TRADE MARK

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "MINUTE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and are called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarizing light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lenses have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heated rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great scientific accuracy, are free from chromatic aberrations, and produce a brightness and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.
Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Comp ... New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & Co., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. I.,—from whom they can only be obtained. No peddlers employed. Do not buy any unless you see the trade mark. ap

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1873.

To the Autumn Forest.

BY WILLIAM JEWETT PABODIE.

Resplendent hues are thine!
Triumphant beauty—glorious as brief!
Burdening with holy love the heart's pure shrine,
Till tears afford relief.

What though thy depths be hush'd!
More eloquent in breathless silence thus,
Than when the music of glad songsters gush'd
From every green-robed bough.

Gone from thy walks the flowers!
Thou askest not their forms thy paths to deck;—
The dazzling radiance of these sunlit bowers
Their hues could not bedeck.

I love thee in the spring,
Earth-crowning forest! when amid thy shades
The gentle south first waves her odorous wing,
And joy fills all thy glades.

In the hot summer time,
With deep delight thy sombre isles I roam,
Or, soothed by some cool brook's melodious chime,
Rest on thy verdant loam.

But, oh, when autumn's hour
Hath marked thy beauteous foliage for the grave,
How doth thy splendor, as entranced I stand,
My willing heart enslave.

When my last hour shall come,
Great God! ere yet life's span shall all be filled,
And these warm lips in death be ever dumb,
This beating heart be still'd—

Bathe thou in hues ablest—
Like gleams of heaven about my spirit play!
So shall my soul to its eternal rest
In glory pass away!

Tim Ryan's Payment of an Old Debt.

The pony, Flanigan, and myself were a good deal surprised to overtake a traveller. Something about his attire, and especially his "acute" expression, made me think him an Irishman who had returned from America. And it proved I was right. My guide gave him good-day, and, with my permission a seat beside himself. Whereupon I ventured to ask him where he was from and where he was going. I believe it is a right peculiar to Americans to ask that all the world over.

"I have come from America, ma'am, and am going to see my mother, who lives up in the mountains, by Cashla Bay back."

I was warm in my praises of his dutiful conduct.

With a little laugh, I said, "I came for that and one other thing."

"To be married, perhaps?"

"No, your honor, ma'am; it was just for a bit of skull-cracking. Indeed, ma'am, saving your presence, I'll tell you all about it. About five years ago I went to Spiddle fair being then in the mind of going to America the month after. It's a grand fair, with a greatamny pig-jobbers and cattle-dealers in it, and they'll drink poteen like water.

I met a boy there, one Magraw, who flourished ahead of the whole fair. I wasn't half his size, because he swelled himself up with his conceit, and I kept mine to myself; but I could not bear to see him calling himself a better boy than myself. So I dared him out, and I got the greatest beating I ever got in my whole life. Indeed, I did not think there was a sound bone in my body. But I promised to pay him back with interest, even if I was leaving for America, and I have done it. In five years I got good work in America, good health, and money to the fore; so I made up my mind to go to Spiddle fair this year to pay Magraw his interest, and then tramp up the hills to the old cabin. It was the last day of the fair when I arrived at Spiddle, but I had not been there an hour when I heard a voice like Magraw's come from the door of a shebeen.

As soon as I approached, Magraw's head came out, and I tapped it with my blackthorn stick, and he dropped. I cried out, 'That's the principal, and if you'll stand up I'll give you the interest.' And then half the fair gathered round and cried, 'Tis Tim Ryan come from America to beat Magraw.' And they made a ring for us, and although I shouldn't say it myself, ma'am, they told me afterward that it was as pretty a fight as they had ever seen. The whole fair was talking about it. Indeed, I did give him principal and interest, and he's now laid up in his cabin to count them. So now I am going to see my mother, and can then return to America with nothing on my mind." From "A Lone Woman in Ireland," by Mrs. J. Lizzie Cloud, in Harper's Magazine for November.

Columbia's Despot.

He was young, he had a neat moustache and well-brushed hair; jeweled studs sparkled in his shirt front, and rings on his white hands; a gentle disdain of the traveling public breathed from his person in the mystical odors of Ihlang-ihlang. He did not lift his haughty head to look at the wayfarer who meekly wrote his name in the register; he did not answer me when I begged for a cool room; he turned to the board on which the keys hung and, plucking one from it, slid it toward me on the marble counter, touched a bell for a call-boy, whistled a bar of Offenbach, and, as he wrote the number of the room against my name, said to a friend lounging near him, as if resuming a conversation:

"Well, she's a mighty pooty gal, anyway, Chawley."

When I reflect that this is a type of the hotel clerk throughout the United States, that behind unnumbered registers at this moment he is snubbing travelers into the dust, and that they are suffering and perpetuating him, I am lost in wonder at the national meekness. Not that I am the one to refuse the humble pie his jeweled fingers offer me. I abjectly take my key, and creep off upstairs after the call boy, and try to give myself the genteel air of one who has not been stepped upon. But I think homicidal things all the same, and I rejoice that in the safety of print I can cry out against the despot whom I have not the presence to defy.

"You vulgar and cruel little soul!" I say, and I imagine myself breathing the words to his teeth, "why do you treat a weary stranger with this ignominy? I am to pay well for all I get; and I shall not complain of that. But look at me and own my humanity. Confess, by some civil action, by some decent phrase, that I have rights, and that they shall be respected. Answer my proper questions; respond to my fair demands. Do not slide my key at me. Do not deny me the poor politeness of a nod as you give it in my hand. I am not your equal; few men are. Come; I also am human!"

I found that, for my sin in asking for a cool room, the clerk had given me a chamber into which the sun had been shining the whole afternoon; but, when my baggage had been put in, it seemed useless to protest, and, like a true American, like you, like us all, I shrank from asserting myself. When the sun went down it would be cold enough and I turned my thoughts to supper, not venturing to hope that, as it proved, the clerk was the sole blemish of the house.

An Incident of the Rebellion.

On the evening of the 1st of April Mr. Nicolay, the private secretary of the President, brought me a package containing papers, instructions, and exclusive orders of a most extraordinary character. One of them directed me to detach Commodore Stringham, a patriotic officer who was on special duty in the navy department, where he was employed in confidential trusts, and sent him to Pensacola. Commodore Pendergrast, who had just arrived at Hampton Roads from the West Indies with the Cumberland, was ordered to repair forthwith to Vera Cruz on account of alleged complications.

On the Cumberland and Powhatan the Navy Department was relying to co-operate with the military for the protection of the Navy Yard at Norfolk in case of difficulty. All these orders relating to the navy were issued by the Secretary of State without consultation with the Secretary of the Navy, or any Cabinet consultation whatever. But the most extraordinary and irregular if not illegal order in that remarkable package directed a reorganization of the Navy Department, and the establishment of a new bureau, in which I was commanded to place in the most confidential relations, where he should have knowledge of all the important transactions of the navy and Navy Department, Samuel Barron, a finished courtier and shrewd secessionist.

On looking over these documents it was evident to me that the President had been the victim of misplaced confidence and was sadly imposed upon, or that he was as unfit for the office of chief executive as is represented in the "Memorial Address." I lost not a moment in waiting upon him, and reading to him these extraordinary papers. He promptly and emphatically disavowed them, said that he had heedlessly and without examination signed a large number of papers which had been brought to him by Secretary Seward for a very different purpose, and which he had supposed was merely formal; that he was not aware of their contents; had trusted entirely to Mr. Seward; and whom could he trust if not the Secretary of State? He requested me to return him the orders or treat them as nullities. The result was, no new bureau was organized without law; Barron was not taken into the confidence of the Navy Department, but soon deserted and was the first naval officer captured in the rebel service; Stringham never went to Pensacola, nor Pendergrast again to Vera Cruz, nor was there any complication that required it.—From Gideon Welles's reply to Adams, in November Galaxy.

The death of young Leggett at the Cornell University is one of the saddest affairs ever recorded. He was killed while being admitted a member of a stupid secret society.

TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." COLLEGE SECRET SOCIETIES.

The death of Mortimer Leggett at Cornell University while being initiated into one of the "Greek-letter" societies, the Kappa Alpha—has occasioned a great many very foolish and illogical remarks from the press, even including some of the ablest and most sensible journals. If a person were drowned during immersion it would hardly be fair to cry out, on that account, for the abolition of Christianity, or even the destruction of the Baptist denomination.

Of course falling off a precipice fifty feet high was no part of the initiation ceremonies. Young Leggett was blindfolded, but this did not cause his fall, for one or two of his initiators went over with him, and they were not blindfolded. Leggett's death was purely accidental and might have happened anywhere. The Kappa Alpha society is no more responsible for it than Cornell University.

One would naturally suppose that the bereaved father would be the one to inveigh against secret societies and initiations which have resulted so terribly to him. But in spite of his affliction he takes a calm and reasonable view of the matter. In a letter to the Washington Star he says:

"Mortimer was there of his own free will, and was with his own chosen friends. In the ceremonies of that awful night, those students had in view Mortimer's pleasure and profit, and had no more expectation of danger or accident than he had. I cannot, therefore, find it in my heart to especially blame those young men nor Cornell University."

The whole subject of college secret societies is much misunderstood. When a prominent New York paper says "A college secret society is either the pretext for dissipation or for silly ceremonies so empty of meaning and void of purpose as to be unworthy of the countenance of every sensible young man," it is guilty of a gross falsehood. The so-called Freshman societies are undoubtedly organized mainly for the sport of initiations, but the Junior societies, to which in most colleges, men of all classes are eligible, are associations for social intercourse and intellectual improvement. The firmest friendships of life are often formed in the halls of the secret society. The men who take the honors and prizes are almost invariably society men: not because the societies make brains, but because they draw brains to them. A good scholar or a good debater who does not belong to a secret society is a rare exception. A man who does not join one of these societies can not associate intimately with society men. He is excluded from familiar intercourse with the best part of the class, and must choose his friends from the dull and the stupid and the unsociable, who are sometimes civilly called Neutrals, but more often Oudens or Nothings.

Not only do these societies include the most brilliant men in college, but they include the most moral and the most religious. Every one of the leading societies numbers clergymen by the score, men who expected to be clergymen when they joined the society and who have never regretted joining. It is a noticeable fact that most college graduates are more attached to their society than to their class or college. The Chi Psi has been accused of being a rather fast society, but the Rev. Mr. Helmer of Chicago is not ashamed of his connection with it and took part in its annual convention recently. College professors generally keep up an honorary connection with the societies which they joined when students. The Psi Upsilon is represented in a majority of the college faculties of the country. Manton Marble, of the New York World, belongs to the Alpha Delta Phi, and was not ashamed to read a poem at a recent convention of his society. Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune, belongs to the Delta Kappa Epsilon, and will deliver the oration at the convention this fall. General Francis A. Walker, now professor in the Sheffield Scientific School at New Haven, and previously Indian commissioner, and chief of the bureau of statistics, is a member of the same society, and took part in a recent convention. It may be said that these gentlemen joined the societies when they were students and do not like to desert. But eminent men have not thought it derogatory to join these societies after attaining years of manhood and after they had left college. The late Hon. Anson Burlingame, Gen. N. P. Banks, Prof. James R. Boise, one of the most distinguished scholars of the country, and Bayard Taylor are all members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, having accepted invitations to the society after they were men in active life and removed from the circumstances which induce students to join.

Membership in a good "Greek-letter" society is a valuable assistance to a young man in college, and not unfrequently a useful introduction after he graduates. As student society is constituted in most colleges it is a cruelty for a parent to forbid his son's joining one of these fraternities.

STATE MISCELLANY.

Daniel Conlan died on Friday night at Lonsdale, from the effects of a fall from a tree while nutting.

George Beaney fell dead Sunday afternoon in a house in Providence, where he was making a call.

A company of play actors called the Metropolitan Dramatic Constellation, gave notice of two performances at Town Hall Bristol last week. The first evening the audience was small, and on the second, after the people had assembled, they were informed that the company had skedaddled, leaving the ticket holders minus their money and minus other outstanding debts, which in their haste they had forgotten to liquidate. The janitor of the hall is anxious to see the company.

There is no evidence of concerted action on the part of the manufacturers in Woonsocket relative to the stoppage of mills. Among the cotton mills, the Woonsocket Company have stopped temporarily; the Harris Woolen Company has suspended their cotton department for a week to make repairs; Geo. C. Ballou & Son will do the same with their old mill at the Falls. Others will probably take advantage of this undesirable opportunity to make repairs. There is no apparent determination at present to interrupt the woolen business.

The Chicago Post thinks that the Republicans would have done much better in Iowa if they had had a United States Senator to elect. On the other hand, the Detroit Post thinks that the Republicans failed in Ohio because there was a Senator to be chosen. Another journal expresses its doubt as to "which Post it will tie to."

The St. Louis Republican, one of the doubting democratic newspapers, does not see a sign of democratic revival in the Ohio election. That state went for Pierce in 1852, it says, but "has never cast a democratic electoral vote for president from that day to this, and never will again." The Democrats elected the governor in 1853, and the election of Mr. Allen is the second time they have carried the state in eleven years.

Political affairs are somewhat complicated in Chicago, to judge from the almost numberless factions taking part in the city canvass. A few of the most common party names are "the Law and Order party"; "the Independent Citizens' party"; "the Leading Citizens' party"; "the Hesing-O'Hara party"; "the Grand Pacific Hotel party"; "the Sherman House party"; "the White-Jussen-Gassette party"; "the Jussen-Gassette-Blakely party"; "the Sunday Wine and Beer party"; "the Committee of Seventy party."

A. B. She shouted, 'Soldiers! soldiers!' and Boston left his work unfinished!"

Not long ago a young man of this city had a most favorable opportunity to enter a business house in this state, at a large increase over his present salary, with a prospect of soon getting a place in the firm. His recommendations were first-class, and the officers of the institution were decidedly pleased with his appearance. They however, made him no proposals, nor did they state their favorable impressions. A gentleman of this city was requested to ascertain where the young man spent his evenings, and what class of young men were his associates. It was found that he spent several nights of the week in a billiard room on Main street, and Sunday afternoon drove a hired span into the country with three other young bloods. He is wondering why he did not hear from the house concerning that coveted position.—[Springfield Union.

—William Martin, a ship ... by his good conduct at the State Farm, was allowed to return to his family in this city on probation. But "Billy," after a short vacation, drifted into the well-worn ruts of intemperance in which he has trod for many years, and was obliged to be returned to his former quarters today; thus again he will have ample opportunity to meditate upon the folly of partaking of that stimulant which cheers, but inebriates, as well.

—There is a sign out on Kinsley's wharf announcing "free drinks" as one of the luxuries of the place. The keeper of the den openly announces that he will dispense the ardent to whom he pleases and as he pleases. His Honor the Mayor, with a policeman, called this morning, but the proprietor was not to be found. Mayor Slocum is in earnest in the matter and the place will be broken up.

The Atlantic Monthly.

The November number of this, the leading magazine of the country, is full of interesting matters. H. H. Boyesen continues "Gunnar, a Norse Romance." The articles on Lincoln and Seward ... Welles published in the Galaxy have attracted a good deal of attention to President Lincoln's Cabinet. Democrat Lloyd's article in this number, "The Home Life of Salmon Portland Chase," is peculiarly appropriate, besides very interesting on its own account. The article, however, is open to the severe criticism that of being a eulogy and not historical. Only one side is presented, while there is a general rule that we should not speak evil of the dead, history demands that that rule be violated where it can be done in an historical and not a vengeful spirit. The infirmity of noble minds, was a very serious infirmity of Mr. Chase's. His yearning for the White House is hardly worth denying, and it certainly caused him to do things which were not consistent with that dignity which Mr. Lloyd mentions as his chief characteristic. Of all this no mention is made; not the most remote allusion even.

Robert Dale Owen writes about interesting people he met in London. J. W. De Forest continues "Honest John Vane." W. M. Grosvenor contributes a long and elaborate article on "The Railroads and the Farms." He shows the immense loss entailed upon the farmers of the West by even the slightest increase in freight rates, and he shows that most of the increase of rates is due to the increased cost of railroad iron, which, in turn, was caused by the protective tariff. He shows very clearly that the thing for the farmers to do is not to confiscate railroad property, nor to compel the railroads to charge uniform rates, but to abolish the tariff so that railroads can be built and maintained for less. He shows, as the Nation has already shown, that railroad profits are not the enormous percentages supposed by the farmers, but on the contrary most of them pay very small dividends or none at all.

The other articles are "Marjorie Daw" by Eunice E. Comstock and "Mr. De Forest's Novels" by Clarence Gordon.

School Superintendents.

At the meeting of Superintendents of schools at Providence on Saturday the subject of evening schools was taken up.

Commissioner Bicknell thought the age for admission should not be less than twelve; the law provided that no child under twelve years shall work in factories. Such children ought to be in our day schools. Evening school should be supplementary to our day school. Last winter the evening schools in Cumberland registered 322 pupils, with an average attendance of 2..; Richmond registered ..., average 18; East Providence .., average ..; Bristol 125, average ..; Warren, 126, average 65; Smithfield 150, average ..; East Greenwich 55, average 27; Newport ..., average 11; North Providence ... attendance ....

Superintendent Clarke, of Newport, says one evening school is maintained by the city as a part of the regular school system and has no bad effect on day schools. Last winter an evening high school was kept which was successful in no way except in spending the money appropriated. Evening schools should not depend upon the day school teacher for instruction.

Superintendent Watson, of South Kingstown, thought evening schools in the villages of his town would relieve the day schools, which are overcrowded. He advocated the charging of a tuition fee as he believed pupils reason that what costs nothing is worth nothing. He considered the attendance would be better in private school than in free.

Superintendent Clarke of Newport from a committee appointed to draw up a paper on Superintendents duties presented a paper on the subject, which after some discussion was at his request referred to the committee with instruction to present at the next meeting a collated report.

The subject of Teachers' Meetings was then taken up. Superintendent Griswold, of Hopkinton, said one difficulty in maintaining such meetings was that the schools begin in the different districts at so many different times, also that districts object to a teacher leaving his school for a day or two for such purposes at the expense of the school fund. He thought such meetings were a decided advantage to both teachers and town.

Superintendent Wilson, of South Kingstown advocated holding teachers' meetings at least once in two weeks on Saturdays. They have a vigorous "teachers' association" in that town.

Superintendent Andrews, of Bristol, although advocates ... properly ... of Teachers' Associations, if ... conducted, was sorry to say the ... attending efforts in this direction in his town had not been altogether satisfactory.

Superintendent Clarke, of Newport, said in Newport in frequent teachers' meetings, improved methods of instruction in various branches were explained by different teachers, and thus eventually adopted in the schools. Essays from also a part of the exercises, and the results from these meetings are manifest and salutary.

After considerable discussion, it was generally decided that the Committee cannot claim the time of the teacher on Saturday, nor refuse a certificate to a teacher because he will not promise to attend a teachers' meeting on Saturdays.

HOW ONE WOMAN GOT HER MONEY.—But one woman succeeded in fairly melting one of the directors. She was a young woman, not particularly pretty, perhaps, but interesting, and she had tears in her eyes, and fifty dollars in the bank. She rushed frantically to one of the directors, and asked him if she could not draw her money.

"I am sorry, madam," said he, "that I can't help you to it just now."

"But I want it immediately," she returned, passionately. "It's all I have in the world."

"Well, my dear madam, you must have patience as well as the rest."

"But mine is an urgent case, and I can't wait, because—"

"Well, because what?"

"Because," said she, with a smile on her lip and a tear in her eye, "because I'm going to be married, and I've to get some things. The man I'm going to marry has not a cent to pay the minister, and he has only one leg, and so I've got to see to everything myself."

The benevolent director dove into his pocket and produced his private purse, out of which he paid her the amount. And she went on her way rejoicing.—[Chicago Times.

Many men are managed into matrimony more, indeed, than are led by Love. Manager as woman is constitutionally, she is seldom a mere manager, under connubial provocations, unless she has been deceived and mistreated before. Deceived again and again, she is forced into an attitude of self-defence, and this, by added rudeness and repression, grows to be invasive. If she learns to despise a certain class of men, it is that these ... her. If her ... of their set be unfavorable, it is because she has known none of a better order. She is rarely rendered so skeptical ... as to lose faith or feel bitterness towards men, when even one of a noble type has ... her. Rather, she makes him the standard through him she judges ... and favorably of his kind. After Briseis ... Achilles she fancied the Greeks were all heroes. So much better for the Greeks ... so much worse for Briseis.—Junius Henri Browne, in The Galaxy for November.

As a Connecticut clergyman was one day taking a walk he saw near a little brook by the wayside two medium-sized striped snakes in the attempt of making a meal of a frog. Each of the snakes had a hind leg of the frog in its mouth and, being in a direct line with each other, they would simultaneously pull with all their might, striving to tear the frog apart, stopping at intervals to take breath. The minister, after having viewed the performance for a few minutes, took sides with the weaker party, killed the snakes and released the frog.

Undeveloped Vigor.

The feeble and half-starved usually fancy they are in a more hopeless condition than they really are. The resources of nature are not easily exhausted. Even when strength and appetite fail, when the eyes are heavy and lusterless, the complexion pallid, the nerves tremulous, the body attenuated, and the mind depressed, there is generally a reserve of latent power behind such palpable evidences of weakness. Various modes of treatment are resorted to by physicians in the hope of developing and rendering available this store of sleeping vitality, but the surest, and indeed the only thoroughly safe and reliable means of awakening the dormant energies of the system, is a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Electricity, shower baths, the flesh brush, sea bathing, &c., may be well enough in their way, as auxiliaries, but they do not reach the source of the evil. All physical debility proceeds either from a derangement of the functions of the assimilating, secretive and vital organs, or from a feeble constitution. In either case, and in cases where both causes exist, the Bitters will invariably produce an immediate and salutary change in the condition of the patient, and eventually effect a complete cure. None of the dangerous alcoholic ... often administered as tonics, can be otherwise than deleterious under such circumstances, and ... mercury is positively criminal. The direct effect of the great vegetable specific will be manifested in an improved appetite, a more cheerful frame of mind, a gradual return of strength, an increase of flesh, and a healthier complexion. Meanwhile, however, the constitution, if inert and feeble, will have been roused and renovated by the subtle elements of invigoration contained in the Bitters.

PIMPLES AND HUMORS ON THE FACE.—In this condition of the skin, VEGETINE is the great remedy, as it acts directly upon the causes. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors of all kinds to disappear.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1873.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Stokes case was resumed today. There was a full attendance of spectators. Joseph H. Fitts, a new witness, testified he was clerk in the Erie office in 1871; had seen Fisk put a pistol in his pants pocket some time in January. The District Attorney asked to see the affidavit the witness had previously made. Mr. Tremaine refused the request.

The District Attorney then demanded to see it, and Tremaine positively refused to allow him. Cross-examined. Saw Fisk at one time holding a pistol under his left arm while making his toilet, which he afterwards put in his pocket; gave this information to counsel for the defence about three months ago; never received money or promise of money for this testimony.

The evidence brought forward by the defence yesterday and today has been decidedly in favor of Stokes, and has broken down most of the testimony produced by the prosecution. It is now generally admitted that the chances are in favor of Stokes's acquittal.

Samuel H. McLoughlin was sworn as to the apprehensions Stokes had previous to the shooting, and that he was in danger from Fisk, the evidence going to show that Stokes labored under this impression. Whether he had realized it or not, witness did not know.

Marietta A. Williams, cousin to Josie Mansfield, testified she had heard Fisk make threats against Stokes; had several times seen Fisk have a pistol; he nearly always carried one; he importuned Miss Mansfield to renew her relations with him, and threatened frequently to take Stokes's life; she did not know whether Stokes had relations with her or not; first heard Fisk threaten Stokes in 1870.

MORE BRIBERY.

Great excitement was created in Brooklyn today by the announcement that Auditor Shawman had been offered a certified check for $16,660 to appoint John H. Prentice as commissioner of public works. Mr. Prentice denies that he desires the appointment, and says that he knows of no one who could reap such a reward as is said to be offered for his appointment.

NEWSPAPER LIBEL CASES.

The grand jury of Kings county have had several of the editors of the New York and Brooklyn journals before them in regard to libelous articles which they have published concerning city officials and city officers. St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Argus had to testify in regard to reports published in that journal.

This morning District Attorney Britton brought Mr. Shanks, one of the editors of the Tribune, from the grand jury room before Judge Gilbert of the supreme court, and stated that Mr. Shanks had refused to answer certain questions which had been put to him in regard to the authors of an article published in his paper. Mr. Shanks said it was a rule of the office not to disclose the names of those who wrote the articles.

Judge Gilbert said he knew of no rule of law which exempted journalists from answering the questions put to them by the grand jury. The only exceptions were clergymen, lawyers, and recently physicians. He must therefore answer all the questions put to him. The district-attorney then returned with him to the grand jury room.

Mr. Dana of the Sun has also been before the grand jury in regard to certain articles published in his journal. The above examinations have all originated from the alleged libels upon a judge of one of the Brooklyn courts.

DEMOCRATIC COCK CROWING.

One hundred guns were fired in City Hall Park this afternoon in honor of the democratic victory in Ohio. A large banner was displayed with the words: "New York democracy greets Ohio upon her victory over the debauched and corrupt national administration."

ALMOST A RAILROAD DISASTER.

The Albany passenger train and the New York passenger train reached Tivoli bridge almost simultaneously last night. The night was intensely dark with a heavy storm of rain and wind. The signal light was extinguished by the wind, and each engineer was ignorant of the presence of the other near the bridge. Both trains started over the bridge and when near its centre came into collision, smashing the head lights of the locomotives and parts of the machinery. A truck was also thrown violently against the girders of the bridge. None of the passengers were hurt.

Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—Last year the commissioner of internal revenue conceived the idea that the export trade in alcohol might be built up, so as to enable the big districts in the West to manufacture their corn and convert it into a convenient and profitable shape for export.

The results show that a heavy foreign trade has already been created. The total number of proof gallons from the date of the law, June 6, 1872, exported to the 4th of this month, was 2,000,268. The spirits are conveyed over bonded routes to the ports of export. The largest shipments have been made from New York to Geneva, Gibraltar and Constantinople. The exportation of grain spirits is confined almost exclusively to alcohol. No high wines have been exported from western distilleries.

SILVER CHANGE COME AGAIN.

The Treasury department has notice that fifty thousand ounces of silver have been received at the mint in Philadelphia from Chicago, with the request that it be coined and returned in half and quarter dollars and dimes. It will furnish change to the amount of $62,500. Silver is now paid out to a limited extent for change in this city. Dr. Linderman, director of the bureau of the mint, says silver will be in general circulation as currency on the 1st of November. All the mints in the country have been ordered to work to their full capacity in coining silver.

MISCELLANEOUS.

General Humphreys, chief of engineers, sent his annual report to the Secretary of War today. Good progress has been made upon all public works under his charge. He makes the usual recommendation for the prosecution of all works now in hand, and the appropriations asked for do not differ materially from those for last year. The President has approved the report of the commissioners sent to examine the sixty-five miles of the Northern Pacific road between Portland and Puget Sound, and directed patents to issue for the lands to which the road is under the law. This puts into the hands of the company an immense tract, mostly very valuable timber land.

Miscellaneous.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—The Count Von Ledochowski, Archbishop of Gnesen and Posen, has been sentenced in contumaciam to pay a fine of three hundred thalers, or be imprisoned for two months.

LONDON, Oct. 21. Advices from Melbourne state that the project started in Australia to ship cargoes of meat packed in ice to European markets, has thus far proved a failure. The tanks placed in the vessels intended for the transportation of beef have been found unsuited to the purpose, and an improvement upon them will be necessary to make the undertaking a success.

MONTREAL, Ont., Oct.—A terrible explosion occurred in the dualin works of Messrs. Ferrier & Co., at Windsor Mills, near this city, late yesterday evening, blowing the mill to atoms and blowing in pieces two inmates, named G. Ferrier, Jr., nephew of the Hon. James Ferrier, and an assistant. The explosion shook the earth for a mile around. The two unfortunate men were literally torn to pieces. One man's head was found in a tree eight rods off, and no part of the other man's body could be found, part of a torn [illegible] belonging to him on the scene of the accident.

PARIS, Oct. 21. It is authoritively stated that President MacMahon has announced his determination to resign his office as President of the republic upon the convention of the Assembly. It is also stated that the cabinet ministers will not at once tender their resignations, but will remain until after the vote upon the monarchical question is taken in the Assembly. The Republicans have conceived of the [illegible] candidate [illegible] a majority [illegible].

The government will be urged to convoke the Assembly on the 27th of October, provided the permanent committee declare it urgent.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. The sixth annual convention of the national board of trade assembled in Music Hall at noon today. President Fraley of Philadelphia called the body to order, and the proceedings opened by the Rev. Dr. Goodwin of Chicago. A delegation of the New York produce exchange were admitted to seats of welcome.

Secretary Randolph of Chicago called the list of delegates, of whom there was a large attendance. Nearly every city in the country was represented. The list of delegates, however, is not yet complete.

The report of the action of the executive for the past year was read. The report recommended the encouragement of American shipbuilding by the allowance of bounties for building, whether the materials used be foreign or American; condemns the credit system of the government promises to pay and the national banks founded thereon, and demands a currency resting on a specie basis; condemns the policy of the banks in paying interest on call deposits; favors the government regulating inter state transportation and the reduction of rates so that the producer may share in the profits of his produce, and condemns the system of watering stocks so that dividends are paid on fictitious representations of value.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21. In the national convention of engineers of the fire departments today, Chiefs Damrell of Boston, Stillman of Baltimore, Sexton of St. Louis, Hill of Cleveland and Megrue of Cincinnati were appointed as an executive committee. Reports from various committees were read and accepted. Among them were reports on the limitation and disuse of combustible material in the structure of buildings; the excessive height of buildings and restriction of the danger of elevator passengeways, hatchways and Mansards; on the employment of trusty watchmen; on fire escapes; on uniformity of hose coupling and fire hydrant connections, and the importance and need of a complete understanding between those whose duty it is to extinguish fire, and fire insurance companies. All these reports were referred to a special committee of seven for revision and arrangement into the form of an address, to be printed and sent to the chief of each fire department in the United States and laid before their respective city councils.

Edward S. Tobey of Boston made a communication on the subject of fire escapes, and Henry S. Hall, of the national board of fire underwriters of New York, on the relations between fire department and insurance companies and the general subject of insurance. Addresses were made by Chiefs Johnson, Stockell, Megree, Damrell and Stillman.

St. Louis was selected as the place for holding the next meeting, the time to be appointed by the executive committee.

The convention adjourned until tomorrow. This afternoon the visiting chiefs reviewed the Baltimore fire department on Monument square.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 21.—Reports up to noon today are not favorable. There have been twenty-four deaths from yellow fever and six from other causes.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 21.—The legislature met in extra session today. Governor Moses sent in a long message. He represents the funded debt at $15,027,503, and the floating debt at $5,596,397. He presents the following plan:

The state being unable to pay the interest on the debt as it stands he proposes that the bondholders be induced to agree that the debt be reduced in volume, all bonds for which the state is actually liable, except $86,- of state capital bonds of 1838, the conversion bonds amounting to $5,965,000, coupons upon the bonds, pay certificates, bills payable, scrip and other evidences of state indebtedness to be returned to the state treasurer, who shall issue instead other bonds or certificates of stocks equal in amount to the full value of such bonds, coupons and certificates. He concludes with an argument in favor of higher taxation, saying that the rate of taxation in South Carolina is much lower than the average of the thirty-seven states of the Union.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—Thomas Christopher, a one-legged blacksmith, living near Bedford, Lawrence county, Ind., entertained a neighbor, John Morrow, last night. Morrow having put up with him for the night. Suspecting an undue intimacy between Morrow and his wife, for a time he watched closely, and entering his wife's room about ten o'clock, he verified his suspicions. In a fit of frenzy and armed with a knife, he first stabbed his three children, then his wife, and turned on John Morrow dealt him two cuts on the face. Morrow threw him down, took the knife from him and plunged it into his body ten or a dozen times, killing him instantly. Morrow was arrested. Mrs. Christopher was stabbed in the abdomen, and her bowels protrude from the wound. It is thought that she and one child will die.

MAGEE'S NEW

STANDARD PLATE IRON

FURNACE.

One feature of interest in this furnace is that the FIRE POT is enclosed in a STEAM BOILER BODY, having no joints to admit of the escape of gases or dust. Think of that, you, whose lives are in jeopardy from our gassy furnaces, and being made of heavy wrought iron, is impervious to carbonic acid. This renders the air heated by it entirely free from all injurious properties.

I confidently offer it, therefore, as the

and assured that others are of the same opinion, I notice an advertisement claiming for a furnace in which there happens to be a few thin cast iron pipes, "The first wrought or plate iron furnace ever made." Verily, there has certainly been great improvement in furnaces since that day. We are selling a large number of the Standard Furnaces, and feel confident that they will be come the most popular furnace of the age. We do not propose to keep the public posted as to how many we buy or how many we sell, as we don't believe they care—but we do propose to exchange them when we have to take one back for any fault of the furnace.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1873.

FARMERS' DAUGHTERS AND POULTRY-RAISING.—The following statement of profitable poultry-raising by a Delaware farmer's daughter, is reported: In Concord, a farmer's daughter, during the past year, had the care of his poultry-yard. In the spring she commenced with about 60 fowls, of the common breeds, including one Dominique rooster and several hens of that stock. She also had two roosters of the Partridge Cochin breed. From these she raised 350 chickens. When young she fed on cracked corn, but when fattening them, gave whole corn and Indian meal. During the season she sold eggs to the amount of $90, and from September 20 to January 17, she got ready for market 150 pairs of chickens, which she sold for $260.

She think the Dominique much the best for market, but they are not hardy when young. She has some hens of the Partridge-Cochin breed which weigh 6, 7 and 8 pounds each. It will be seen from this statement what may be done by proper attention to poultry, the profits being perhaps larger than any branch of farming. It also shows that the business is one in which females may engage with success. The time occupied in caring for 60 to 100 hens does not average more than an hour or two a day. The exercise is light and pleasant, and the change from household duties rather agreeable than otherwise. Indeed, we consider the poultry business, as an occupation, both profitable and interesting. Gathering eggs, setting hens, watching the hatching, and tending to the young, have a charm, which, in connection with the profits, is calculated to please every lover of nature's great working world.

FALL PLOWING FOR POTATOES.—Ever since the period of the appearance of the potato-rot in this country, farmers have been studying, more or less closely, the potato crop, and we believe we speak within the bounds of truth in saying, that all who have decided that the application of mineral manures will give the best result, and the use of strong horse, or other fermenting manures, the poorest return. Especially does this prove true in seasons when rot is most prevalent. In New Jersey the green sand marl used lavishly, supplies all the mineral elements. In other localities, where this cannot be obtained, ashes, lime, plaster and superphosphate of lime are employed with certainty, when properly applied in sufficient quantities.

All strong soils yield a better crop of potatoes when plowed, and completely pulverized in autumn, and we suppose this to be mainly due to the elimination of the mineral elements, consequent on the comminution of the soil, and its exposure to atmospheric influences during winter. In the spring the more thoroughly the ground is again plowed, the better for the crop.

Henry Ward Beecher's family newspaper starts its Fall campaign, giving subscribers a pair of the largest and finest OLEOGRAPHS,—two most attractive subjects that "take" on sight, —painted by Mrs. Anderson, as contrasts and companions for her "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep." Agents have immense success; call it the "best business ever offered canvassers." We furnish the lightest and handsomest outfit and pay very high commissions. Each subscriber, old or new, receives without delay two beautiful pictures. Full supply ready for immediate delivery. The paper itself stands peerless among family journals, being so popular that of its class it has the largest circulation in the world! Employs the best literary talent. Edward Eggleston's great serial story is just beginning; back chapters supplied to each subscriber. Mrs. Stowe's long expected sequel to "My Wife and I" begins in the new year. Any one wishing a good salary or an independent business should send for circular and terms to J. B. FORD & CO., New York, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, or San Francisco. AGENTS WANTED. oc16-4w sep25-tf 29 Broad street.

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above pointed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. For the cure of Habitual Constipation of the bowels it is a never failing remedy, and those who have used it for this purpose are loud in its praise.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it for the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended.

Sold by druggists at $1 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. Pierce, M. D., Sole Proprietor, at his Chemical Laboratory, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Send your address for a pamphlet.

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE undersigned represents the following First Class Fire Insurance Companies, and is prepared to issue policies on all classes of risks at current rates. Dwelling houses and their contents insured for one, three, or five years, on the most favorable terms. Written permission given to SUMMER RESIDENTS to leave their buildings unoccupied a portion of the year, without extra charge.

Ætna Ins. Co. of Hartford, Assets,	$5,396,380
Ins. Co. of North America, Philadelphia, Assets	3,276,739
Hartford, of Hartford, Assets,	2,201,390
Royal, of England,	10,000,000
Orient, of Hartford,	705,520

These companies were among the HEAVIEST LOSERS at the Chicago and Boston fires, every dollar of which was promptly paid. It costs no more to insure in them than it does in the small fry and weak concerns that are sure to go down in time of trial—the only time, in fact, when an Insurance Company is of any service.

If desired, property in OTHER TOWNS AND CITIES will be taken, and the covered in these and other reliable companies. L. D. DAVIS,

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
